Dear Mrs. Ward,
I've had loads of fun in Spanish the past two years. There were hard but I also managed to barely get through them. I really enjoyed it. I'll miss

Dear Señora de Ward
It has been fun being in your room this year. You are a real swell teacher. Sorry I didn't get better grades but I will next year. Have fun over the Summer. Stay out of trouble for me. See ya next year
Love Kay Ford

Dear Mrs. Ward
Best of luck in your future years. You had it pretty tough in this English class and I don't know how you survived it.
Cleatha Moody

Dear Mrs. Ward
I've had a lot of fun in Spanish class this year. I'm glad I took it. I'll be glad to help you with your Spanish next year if you want me to.
Love
Linda Lee

Mrs. Ward
At the beginning of the school year I was thinking of taking Spanish. Now I have decided against taking it. I've decided to take Spanish because I enjoy it so much. I didn't do well in Spanish, but I really enjoyed the class. It's always a pleasure to come into room 106. You are certainly a wonderful teacher. Continue to treat all of your classes in the same manner with laughter. Thank you for your patience.
Love
Cindy

This year, the world has ventured into a new era, that of space travel. Our sights are set on new and uncomprehensible conquests.

Nevertheless, if we are to achieve in these conquests, we must first gain an understanding of our fellow man. This is the most important conquest of all. Thus we (the Lens Staff) present to you a record of the role played by each and every student here at Washington High School in building a better nation and world during the year 1958-1959.

Linus Pauling, Ph. D., Sc. D., L. H. D., U. J. D., D. H. C., D. F. A., Nobel Laureate Chemistry

DEDICATION

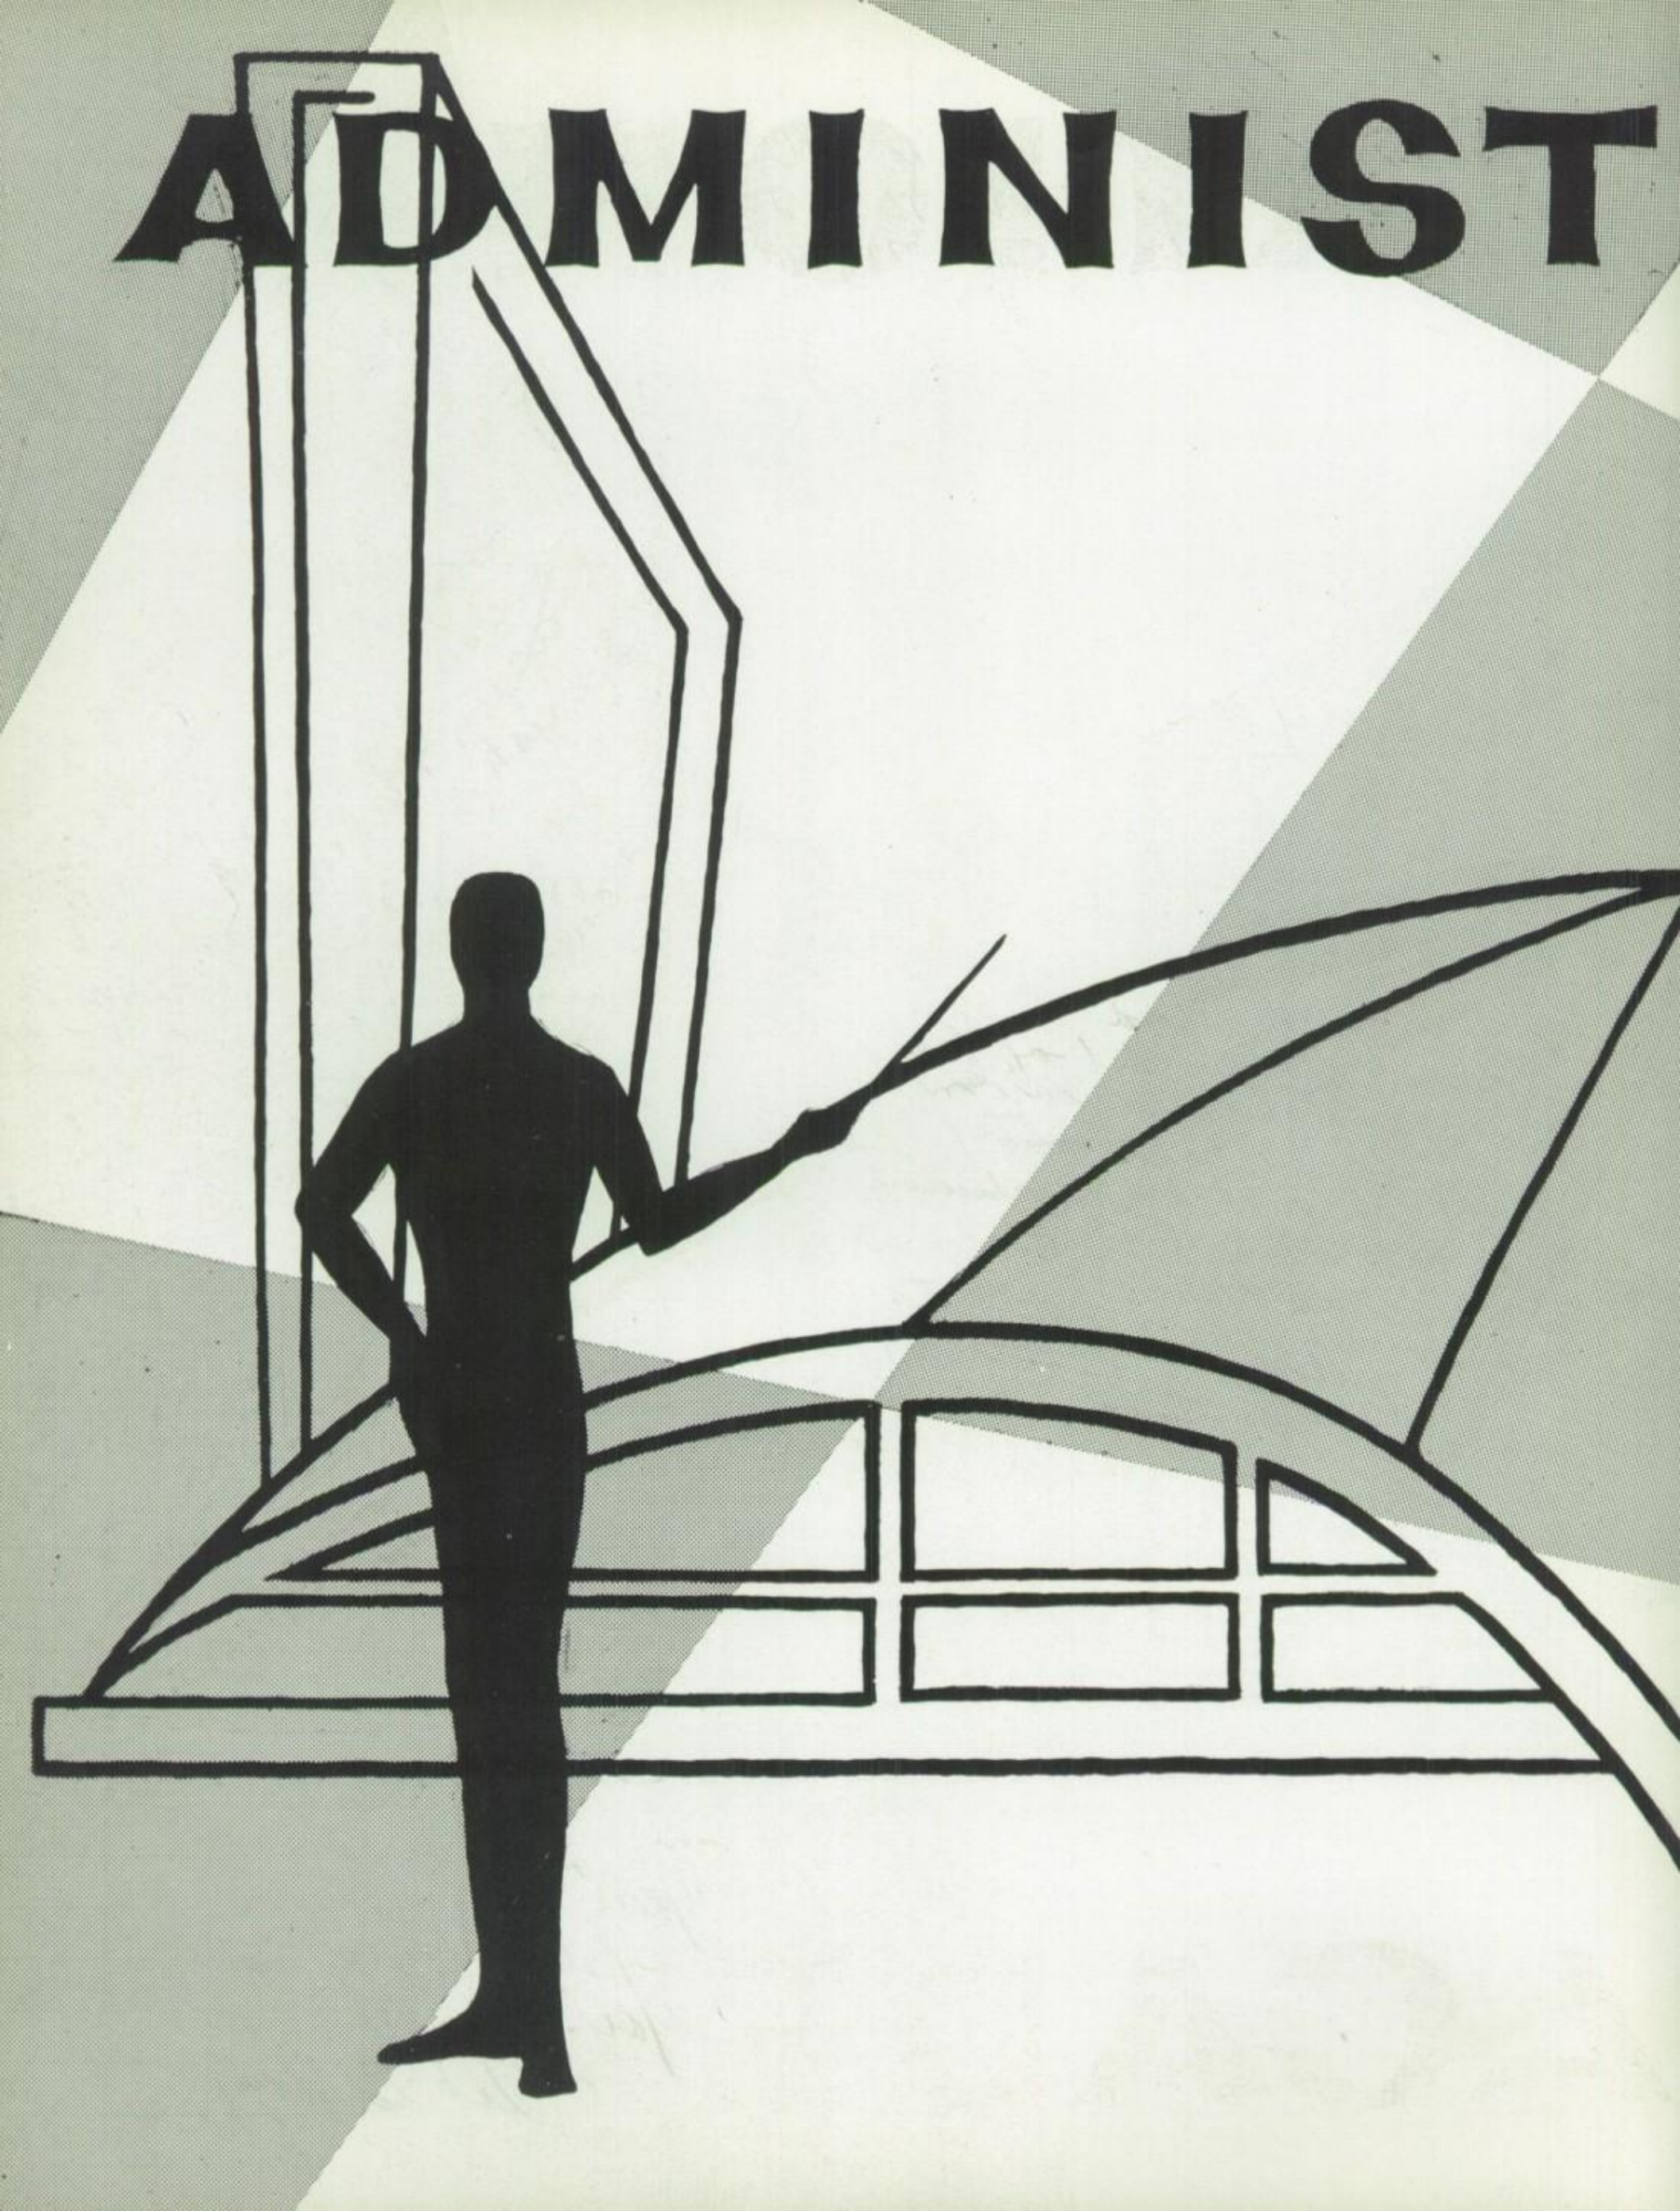
We dedicate the Lens of '59 to all the Colonials who have trod the halls of Washington High School in pursuit of the knowledge which helped them to attain their rightful places in society. We, humbly yet proudly, make this dedication in particular to the most outstanding Nobel Prize-winning scientist, humanitarian, and author, our own beloved Dr. Linus Pauling, who personifies our highest ideals. Dr. Pauling learned the fundamentals of chemistry at Washington High School under the direction of Mr. William Green, Harvard graduate and former Lens adviser, now deceased.

Professor Linus Pauling, Chairman of the Division of Chemistry and Chemical Engineering, California Institute of Technology since 1937, was awarded the Nobel Prize in Chemistry for 1954 and awards in the fields of chemistry, medicine, and international law too numerous to list. In addition to earning his Ph. D. where he is now a professor, he has been given honorary doctorates by fifteen universities, including Chicago, Princeton, Yale, Cambridge, Oxford, London, Paris, Leige and Montpellier. He has won the Presidential Medal for Merit "for exceptionally meritorius conduct in the performance of outstanding service to the United States from 1940 to 1946." He has published 300 scientific papers and the following books: "The Structure of Line Spectra," "Introduction to Quantum Mechanics," "The Nature of the Chemical Bond," "General Chemistry," and "No More War."

We quote exerpts from Albert Szent-Gyorgy, Nobel Prize-winner's book review of "No More War" by Linus Pauling. "The book brings out clearly the monstrosity of war, the difference of the 'peace of plenty for all' we could have, and the miserable end we are heading for by continuing to heap up the instruments of destruction. The difference between these two possibilities is so evident that one feels ashamed that such a book has to be written at all, that we still squander our treasures building gigantic war machines while there still are hungry mouths to fill and many schools to build. But such a book did have to be written and Pauling's policy is the most hopeful one; to go to the people at large.....and convince them that there is no safety in the metastable balance of terror.

One must ask himself why Pauling, one of the greatest scientists of our time, who could gain nothing by writing such a book should do so..... The answer is evident: this book is the expression of the anguish, anxiety, and moral responsibility most scientists must feel, once they look beyond the narrow limits of their actual research. This makes the book one of the most important historical documents of our age and makes Pauling stand out among us as one of the greatest figures of science. He reminds this reviewer of the Bible story of Sodom, condemned by God to be destroyed. Eventually God promised to spare the city if it could produce a sufficient number of virtuous men. Pauling may be among those men for whose sake we will be forgiven and spared an atomic war and the possible extinction of our race."

ADMINIST



RATION

Dear Mrs. Ward,
I can truly say that I have enjoyed being in your Spanish Class. You are always understanding & helpful
with me and I really appreciated it.
I will never forget being in Spanish.

ACADEMIA

WASHINGTON HIGH SCHOOL

The students of Washington High have brought honor to themselves and their Alma Mater through their outstanding achievements in all areas of school life. Scholastic attainments, worthwhile service projects, and an excellent school spirit and loyalty have all shared in making 1958-59 a pleasant and successful year.

The staff of highly competent teachers and administrators extend congratulations. They stand ready to help you meet the challenge of greater achievements in the future.

Clifford J. Skinner
Principal

DR. WILLIAM B. RICHTER

ADMINISTRATIVE

DEAN OF BOYS

Dr. Richter, who was activities advisor at Washington High last year, completed his studies for a doctorate in Education in 1953 at the University of North Dakota. This year, as vice principal and dean of boys, he has supervised athletics, the student store, the school calendar, and fire and air defense drills. Even with the other responsibilities of the cafeteria, Baccalaureate and Commencement, Dr. Richter is never too busy to help students solve their problems.

MISS MARY I. WITHYCOMBE

ADMINISTRATIVE

DEAN OF GIRLS

Washington High School is fortunate in having Miss Withycombe as dean of girls. Aside from being responsible for the welfare of all girls, Miss Withycombe supervises the counseling and guidance program, Rally Squads, and the Pep Club. She coordinate student productions, college representative visitations, and scholarship applications and makes arrangements for Washington's Rose Festival princess selection and May Fete.

MR. GARETH B. GODDARD

CURRICULUM
VICE PRINCIPAL

Mr. Goddard, assisted by teacher committees, develops curriculum improvements. In addition to supervising permanent, probationary, and student teachers, he is in charge of special services, instructional materials, the bookroom, library, and student participation in radio and television activities related to our school program. With a genuine smile and a friendly word for everyone, Mr. Goddard helps Washington maintain its high standard of faculty and curriculum.

MR. WILLIAM WEISS

ACTIVITIES ADVISOR

New to Washington this year, Mr. Weiss coordinates and supervises activities of all school clubs, works with the principal in assisting the executive council, aids in planning programs, class dances and student elections. Mr. Weiss has entertained many school audiences with his singing, and it is not unusual to hear students conversing with him in French.

Office Secretaries Function Efficiently

Mrs. Margaret Baumann

The office secretaries keep Washington High running smoothly. They check attendance of students, teachers, and substitutes, issuing emergency excuses, tardies, and cuts when necessary. The secretaries type letters for Mr. Skinner, the vice principals, and the counselors, and answer other letters which do not require a personal reply. Credits of all students are recorded in the office and transcripts are sent to the colleges for the seniors. There are many reports, such as graduation lists and the principal's reports, which must be compiled. Filing and transferring telephone messages consume much of the secretaries' time. These tasks are only a few of the many duties which the office staff performs efficiently.

New Approach to Physics Noted in Active Science Department

Mr. David Porter

Physics, General Science
Physical Science

This year, over the entire nation, a new Physics course has been established. Washington High School is fortunate in being one of the Portland schools initiating this new P. S. S. C. program. The course covers fewer different subject areas than the traditional Physics course. For example, the study of sound is not taken up. However, the subjects that are studied are delved into in much detail. The mathematics and derivation of the material is considered to a great extent.

Modern trends in the field of mathematics have effected considerable changes in the department of Washington High School which are in keeping with the most advanced national tendencies. Portland has been in the forefront in the organization of the mathematics curriculum and the development of the gifted student program.

The teachers in this department have expended much time and effort to prepare themselves for further expansion of the mathematics program to meet the demands of the space age.

New Library and Bookroom Activate More Study

Washington's library opened its doors in October for the anxious Colonials. Extensive remodeling had not been completed during the summer.

Students were attracted by the cheerful atmosphere that the light-colored woodwork and furniture created. Flower arrange ments made the library even more attractive. The beautiful mural depicting Oregon's history stood out for all to admir e. This large mural, painted by student artists, was completed two years ago.

With the addition of more books, two typewriters, a phonograph, records, and film strips, the library serves more needs than before. While students gather in the library for study and research, Mrs. Rahmes, the librarian, and Mrs. Lawrence, the library secretary, keep order among the books and the students.

"Memories Now"

Tune: "My Happiness"

Words written by Carl Richards

Graduation time has come,
And our years at Washington,
Years of work and years of fun,
Are mem'ries now.

Leaving all the friends we've known,
Into adults we have grown,
Even loves we called our own,
Are mem'ries now.

The million things we've done,
Parties, clubs,
And games that we won;
The dreams that we had then,
Will be beautiful memories when...

On through life we go our ways,
Yet, we can't forget those days,
So with tears that dim our gaze,
We'll reminisce.

President's Proclamation

During our four short years at Washington High School we have seen man thrust satellites into space and probe the depths of the sea through atomic power. Truly, we have experienced the coming of the space age.

To help us meet the challenge of this new era, we have concentrated more on the study of the sciences. We learned a little of the culture of our forefathers through the study of English and History. Our social service clubs and our student activities have taught us, in some small way, to cooperate with one another to achieve a common goal. Our four years have taken us a few steps down the pathway of learning where we see a long challenging road ahead.

We are grateful for the leadership that the faculty has provided and the opportunities Washington has given us. It is our sincere hope that Washington may in the future be as proud of her alumni of the class of 1959 as we the graduating class are of having been a part of Washington High School.

MR. CARROLL NEWTH

Mr. Carroll Newth has been an advisor to the class of 1959 boys for four years. He has given of his time to see that all their problems were worked out, as well as having spent considerable time working with the class officers, especially during this busy senior year. Mr. Newth has plans of beginning the cycle again as freshman boys advisor next fall.

MISS ELAINE OBERG

Miss Elaine Oberg has served as the advisor of the class of 1959 girls for the past two years. She quite capably replaced Mrs. Charlotte Winters, who advised the girls for their freshman and sophomore years. Miss Oberg has worked very hard to fill the void left by Mrs. Winters, and all the seniors can testify that she has done an excellent job. Miss Oberg will be a freshman counselor for the incoming class.

SCHOLARSHIP KEYNOTES SPACE AGE

Top Colonials Featured

Scholarship has always been stressed at Washington High School. Colonials have earned more than their expected percentage of scholarships to top ranking colleges and universities. Institutions of higher learning and business are most interested in the graduates who rank in the top percentiles. Wishing to encourage an even greater emphasis on scholastic attainment, this year's Lens Staff has honored the top twenty-five percentile of the senior class as computed early in the year for college recommendations. The sixtieth place was chosen by lot, because there was a six way tie. The prevailing method of computing rank of the graduating class each year is open to question, since it disregards number of credits earned and comparative difficulty of subjects.

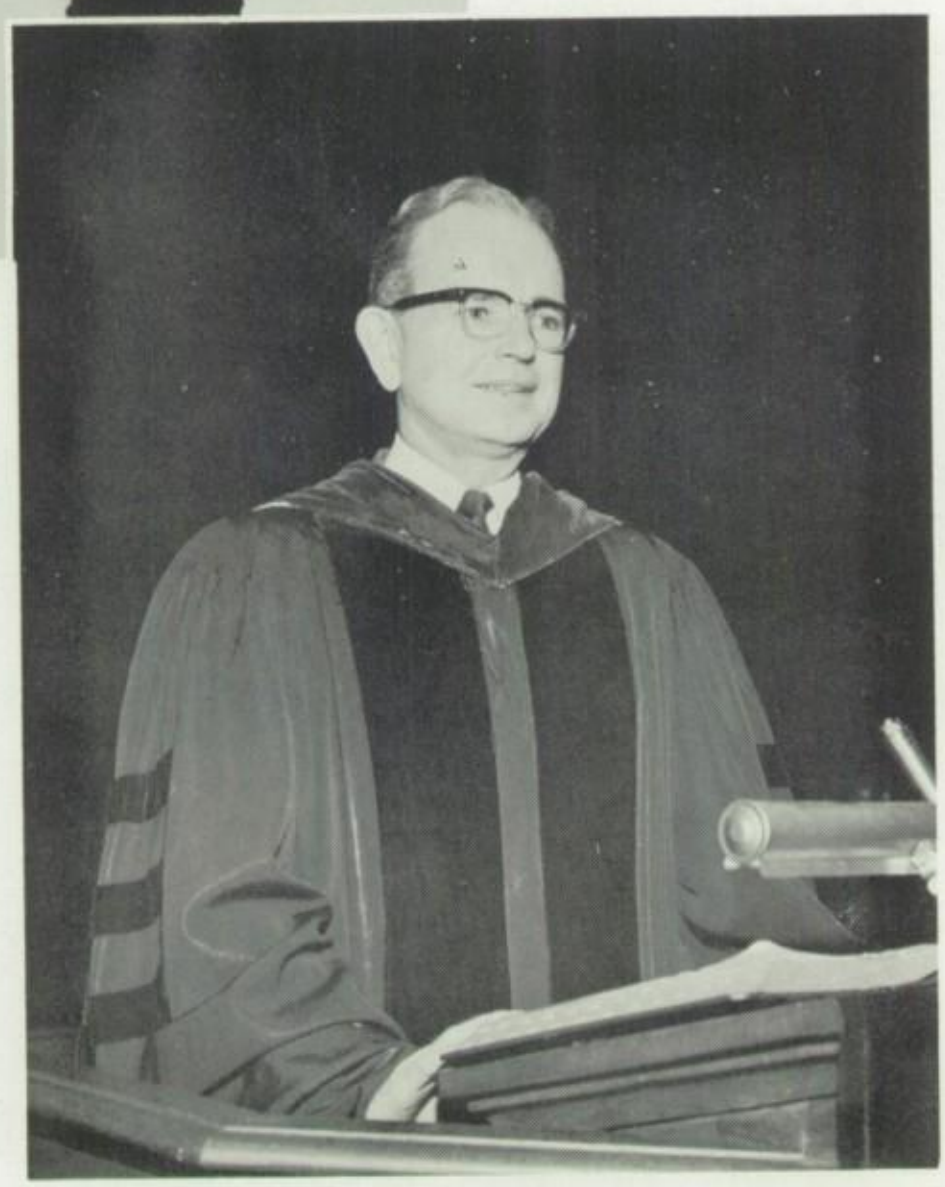
Our faithful friend and photographer, Mr. Don Breck



Dr. Robert K. Russell, pastor at the Mt. Tabor Presbyterian Church, delivered an inspiring baccalaureate address to the class of 1959. Dr. Russell has spoken at many assemblies and has shown his interest in Washington High School in many ways. Mt. Tabor Presbyterian Church extended this year's senior class a warm and friendly reception, as it often has in the past. The class of '59 is grateful for this courtesy.

Student teacher Gerhard Schmoll contemplates tough assignment.

The Fall, 1958 Executive Council, under the excellent leadership of President Bill Candee, tried many original ideas and projects. Work began in the late summer with arrangements with Franklin High School about the opening game. The opening dance with the crowning of a "Football Queen" was extremely well-attended. The main objective of the council was to revise the Washington constitution. The complete revision consumed part of the council members' Christmas holiday, but the time given was worthwhile. The revision was finally accomplished along with an original plan for student participation in "Student Day". Student teachers took over in the classes while council members replaced administrative and counselor positions. A contest kicked off the student body card sale with prizes of a Lens and free student body cards. The council also initiated open council meetings in assemblies before the entire student body, providing the students with a better understanding of council activities. The success of the student body dance, "Harvest Moon", and the addition of a Christmas tree in the main hall typified the spirit of the Fall Executive Council.

"The Happiest

The world of the Drexel-Biddles at Washington certainly kept pace with the true Biddles of Philadelphia in the senior class play "The Happiest Millionaire". The viewer may be surprised to know that those zany scenes were repeats of a real Philadelphian family, the Anthony J. Drexel Biddles.

Mr. Biddle, "father", whose wild and impulsive enthusiasms for such unexpected whims as prize fighting, live alligator collecting, bayonet sticking, newspaper writing, Drexel Biddle Bible Classes and wrecking any project that interfered with his way of life kept his family in a continual upset.

Millionaire"

The boisterous action, backed up by a knockout engagement takes place in September, 1916, at the Anthony J. Drexel Biddle residence at 2194 Walnut Street, Philadelphia. The fifteen characters who made up this eccentric millionaire's household presented a crazy, zany, lovable,"happiest" millionaire that will long be remembered for its apt portrayal of Anthony Biddle whose life and family was entangled with raising pet alligators singing in the Philadelphia Academy of Music, and training over a thousand marines in ju-jitsu for Uncle Sam.

Sadie Hawkins Dance Climaxes Twerp Week

"All right gals--grab a boy and let's go to the Sadie!" These familiar words rang through the halls of Washington during Twirp Week. All the girls, dressed in their "best", showed up with their beaus to make the dance a great success. The combined efforts of Phreno, Masque, and Neak made it a dance that was enjoyed by everyone who attended. Prizes were given for the best costumes, corsages, and beard.

The spring 1959 term of the Executive Council, under the leadership of President John Hall, was very successful. While upholding the traditions of Washington High School, the council introduced many new activities which included a pride project to bolster school spirit, a council preview assembly, and a special Centennial Day. It was the council's desire that more school unity and pride would be encouraged and that every student of Washington High School would take an active part in student body affairs.

Advisors

The members of the Washingtonian wish to express their appreciation to their advisor, Mr. Maloney. He was able to be with them only one term this year, but his policies, combined with those of Mr. Richard Braghero, proved very effective.

The members of the Lens Staff would like to express their thanks and sincere appreciation to Mrs. Randall for her expert guidance and cooperation. Without her help, this book could not have been successfully completed.

The Lens Staff would like to thank Mrs. Bacon for all the time she spent in making this annual a success. She has given us many valuable suggestions in correcting our copy and write-ups.

The Lens Staff consider themselves very fortunate in having Miss Tennant as their art consultant. She has given so much of her time and effort in making our book unique.

Dear Mrs Ward,
I have enjoyed this year in Spanish. If I haven't learned any thing in here, its my own fault.

Love,
Jeri Guthrie

Dear Mrs. Ward
I know I haven't been the best student, but I have had a wonderful time in your class, Even though you made us all work.

yours to remember

Mrs. Ward,
All in all I have enjoyed this year in Spanish. I only hope I can remember it for next year.
Sincerely,
Lynne Shuster

Mrs. Ward
It has sure been nice having you for my Sp. teacher for the last two years. I hope you pass me, probably just to get rid of me.

Fall Cabinet

JOHN HALL

President

The Fall Cabinet's agenda was concerned mostly with the presentation of the new club rules and regulations. However, we also promoted several other projects. To promote closer unity among our club organizations, a leadership training class was organized under the supervision of Mr. Weiss. The cabinet meetings were held every Wednesday morning before school. One week was devoted to club business, while the other was devoted to leadership training. In summary, I feel this organization has helped to develop a closer relationship between the school and the club programs.

John Hall

Spring Cabinet

The school cabinet consists of the presidents of each chartered organization at Washington. Mr. Weiss, the Activities Director and advisor of the group, relates to the cabinet all information and policies of the School Board and Administration. The Cabinet officers relate this to the members who in turn bring the wishes of the Administration to their own particular group.

It can be seen that the cabinet is a tool which ties the Administration to the students and results in a uniform club program. The cabinet meets regularly every Wednesday morning to undertake the business which is necessary to the well being of all the school's organizations.

Cleves

Cleves is an honorary-service club for girls. Its membership consists of senior and junior girls and a limited amount of sophomore girls. Cleves annually ushers at senior commencement. This year Cleves and Knights jointly sponsored the Foreign Exchange Student Day. This organization also annually holds an Easter party for the children of the faculty. This year Cleves has participated in patrolling the cafeteria in our year-long clean-up campaign. Cleves attempts to aid the school and the entire student body in any special service or activity.

The Washington High School Choir can be very proud of its achievements this year. One highlight of the year's activities included an outstanding performance for the Brotherhood of Christians and Jews Organization for which the well-known orchestra director Boris Sirpo, waxed eloquently about the choir's presentation of "I Am An American". The choir's busy schedule included performing for the Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter, and Veteran's Day assemblies, the annual Spring Festival, television programs, and for the Northwest Accrediting Association of Secondary Schools at the Multnomah Hotel. Another high point of the year was the very excellent role played by the Washington High School Choir in making the annual Choir Festival an outstanding success. Also adding much interest and variety on many occasions were the girls' and boys' ensembles. This year's vocal department has throughout the year maintained a high standard of excellence worthy of Washington High School.

The Washington High School Band, under the direction of Donald McKenzie, has actively participated in both high school and community events. Their outstanding performance in the Veteran's Day Parade won them this victory. This is upholding the tradition of the Washington High School Band who has already become famous for winning two perpetual trophies. Each one was earned by winning first place three times in the Rose Festival floral parade in competition with the other Portland high school bands. At the band festival, one of the highlights of the year, they were exceedingly well received. Much of the famous Colonial spirit and enthusiam that fired our football and basketball teams was inspired by our ever faithful pep band.

Dear Mrs. Ward,

a complete school year has passed now and this is our last day of school. Perhaps next year I will be in your class, I certainly hope so, you are a fine teacher and what's more, I feel I have a friend in my study hall and that is my teacher, even if I do call it Ward 106, I am just kidding. My last period every day has been with you as well as my first. I do wish that your daughter could be fortunate enough to go to W a . Take care of yourself and God Bless you.

Colonial Coaches' Philosophy

We believe that the athletic program at Washington High School does develop team spirit on the squad and in the school, a spirit of the will to win, the attributes of hustle and resourcefulness, the courage to fight to the limit no matter what the odds, and inculate in the student the vital quality of loyalty.

We believe that the athletic program helps the student to become a more successful citizen--both in school and in later life.

Dear Mrs. Ward.
You are really a wonderful person and you have a terrific personality. I guess I'm not much of a student but I'll never learn Spanish

SEASON REVIEW

Despite the actual won-lost record, the 1958 Football season was very colorfull with many exciting moments. The season opened in a Saturday afternoon contest which saw Washington defeat Franklin 18-0. Cardell Matthews made all three touchdowns with the aid of some expert blocking from Marc Sprague and others. A week later, the Colonials came from behind in the last quarter to tie Benson 7-7. In the last five seconds, Leon Warren went around right end to score, and the conversion was completed by Matthews. Unfortunately, there were several injuries, and as a result, the Washington team lost to Cleveland, Jefferson, Roosevelt, Wilson, and Lincoln. The high spot of the season came when Washington beat Grant for the first time in ten years. When the final gun sounded, the score stood 44-0. Cardell Matthews, Leon Warren, and Oscar West each made two touchdowns, while Bill Candee, who is usually known for his excellent line playing ability, was switched to the back field late in the game and scored on a two yard run. Bill also scored both conversions which ran the total to 44 points. Washington can indeed be proud of Bill as he was not only elected to the All-City team, but also gained a position on the Sate Squad. In addition, he was recognized by his teammates as the most valuable player and the best lineman. Eddie Vetsch and Cardell Matthews each received honorable mention on the All-City team, and Leon Warren was named to the Oregonian third team. Next year, Washington can look forward to a good season as there will be several experienced juniors returning.

First Colonial squad to beat Grant in over twenty years.

From the successfull athletic traditions of the past the Colonials will build a triumphant future.

These two action shots typify the many action packed moments which occurred during this year's Colonial gridiron campaign. Vic Bell is shown above racing around right end, despite the efforts of Jefferson's defense led by Ray Renfro. The second picture shows Leon Warren in another offensive drive in the same game.

Coach Aschenbrener presents Bill Candee, all-city and all-state player, with third consecutive football letter while other team-mates, including Vic Bell, Eddie Vetsch, and Cardell Matthews look on.

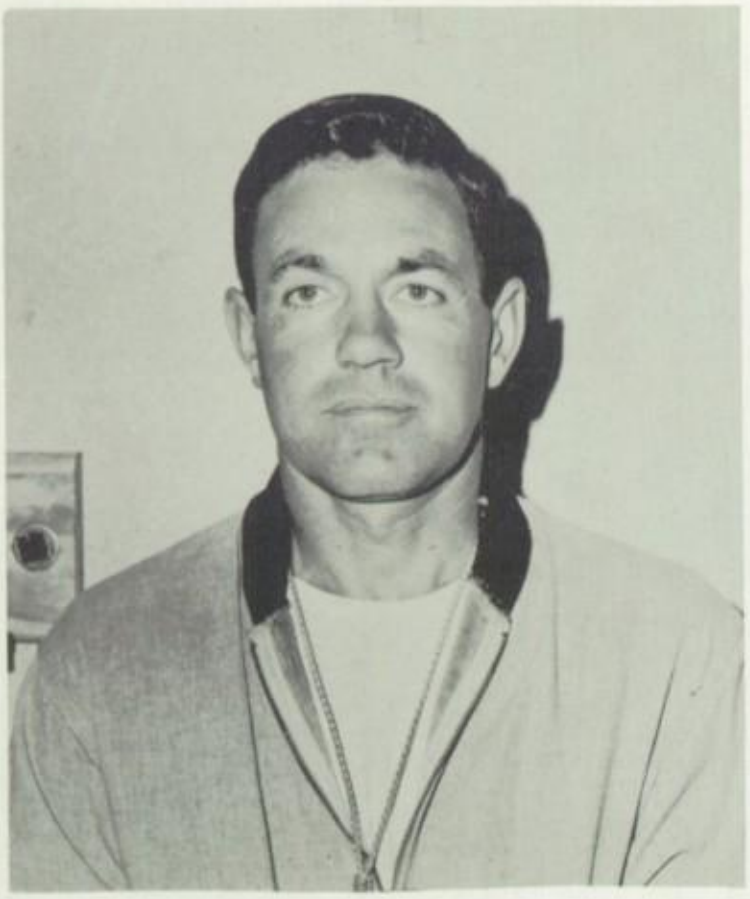
BASKETBALL



COACH McCLUSKEY

The '59 Colonial basketball squad suffered numerous setbacks. Hit hard by ineligibility and illness, the team was still able to salvage five wins and press their opponents closly, losing several games by only one point or by very close scores.

The original starting unit, including four seniors, Art Pierce, Bob Marson, Bob Minor, and Doug Hatton, and one junior, John Lindgren, was so decimated that by the last game of the season, only two of these five players suited up and played. The reserves, Dave Duncan, Daryl Stone, Bill Candee, and John Sherman, replaced the missing players and developed admirably. Many of them, however, were also haunted by individual ailments.

Individual honors were received by several members of this year's team. Art Pierce, high scorer in the city at midseason, won a place on the second team all-city, despite the fact that he was out of action for the last three weeks of the season. Honored by their teammates were Marson and Hatton, who were selected as the team's most valuable players.

COACH MOCKFORD

Washington High track and field squad completed a very successful season despite small turnouts and injuries. The track team, coached by Roger Mockford, placed fifth in the City Relays and ninth in Hayward Relays, the state meet.

Standouts were: Cardell Matthews who placed first in the 440, Bob Minor, hampered by pulled muscles, still showed up well in sprints, George Brown, who won high jumps and hurdles and Jim Challis who showed outstanding ability in the field events.

The '59 Colonial baseball team entered the P. I. L. campaign this spring, fielding a young and inexperienced nine. The squad had the benefit of only six returning lettermen who were counted on heavily to carry the load through the tough eighteen game schedule.

As the season closes, the Washingtonians are in ninth place with a three and fourteen record. This record does not show the valuable experience gained in this rebuilding year.

Seniors, Ed Vetsch, Larry Turner, Doug Hatton, Bill Candee, and Bob Marson, let nobody down this spring as they led the team in ability. Furthermore, they were spirit and morale builders.

Breaking into the line-up this year were numerous sophomores and juniors who will be seasoned performers for next year's league play. Next year's team is looking for a brighter future with the many returning lettermen under the guidance of Coach Sengstock.

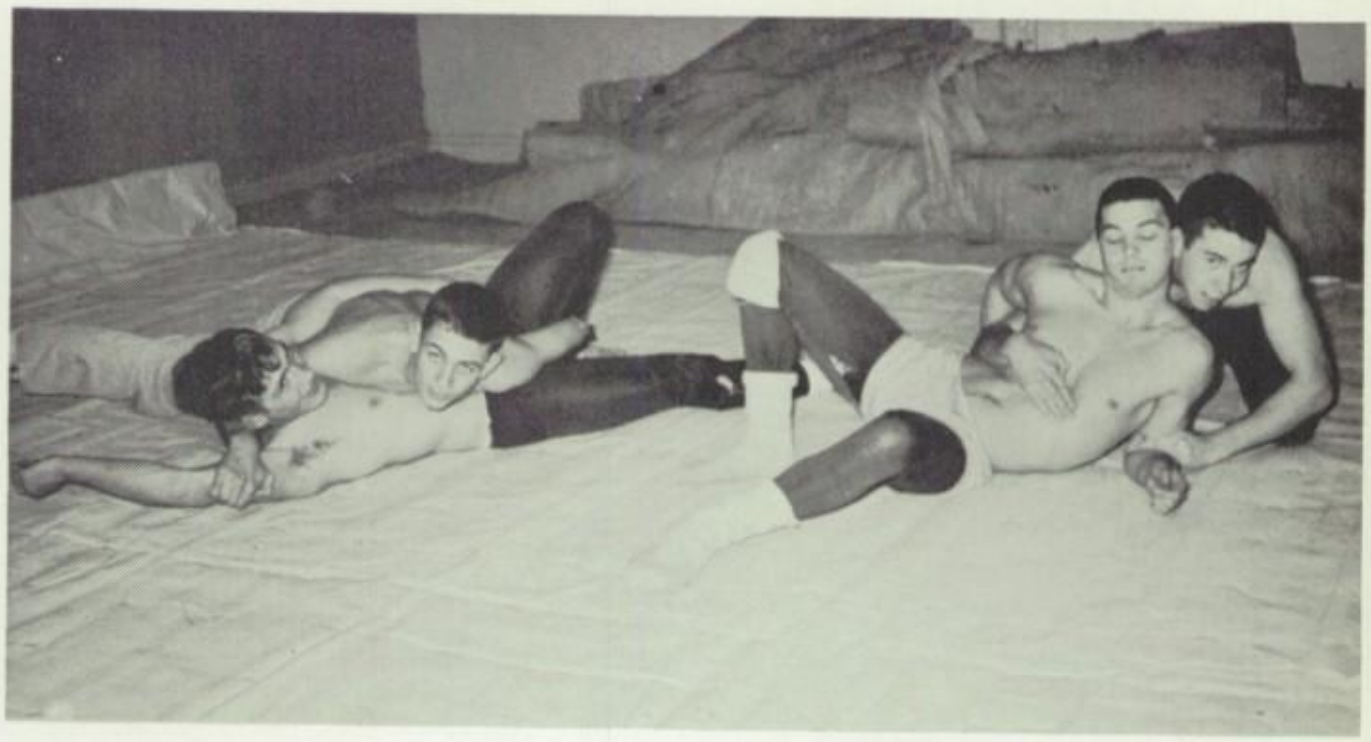
COACH ALDRIDGE



The wrestling team, under the coaching of Walt Aldridge, improved greatly over the past seasons. With a season of a few wins and many close matches, Washington put up a fairly good showing. Jim Martell and Hart Ferguson captained a squad of about thirty grapplers.

In the city matches Tom Bowers took a fourth and Floyd Wilson took third. Hart Ferguson took a second place and was thus Washington's first wrestler to go to state. There he won matches before he was eliminated.

Next year will mark the opening of the Colonial gymnasium and the new football practice field at Buckman. These new facilities will make possible a considerable degree of improvement in the athletic program at Washington High School. However, improved facilities and an excellent coaching staff cannot alone produce teams that will uphold the great traditions of our school.

Without a high percentage of students' participation in athletics and the enthusiastic support of the entire student body, no school can field the kinds of teams we all want to see at Washington. It is true that with one exception the other high schools in Portland have many more students and other factors being equal, numbers of great importance. There is no cause for rank optimism, but we need not be led into a state of pessimism by the sheer weight of numbers. We must be realistic. We must face the facts and use the resources that we have.

What resources do we have that can help us to overcome the numerical superiority of our opponents? These are not the kinds of resources that can be counted and measured. They are resources that must be developed within ourselves and that will be expressed in our support of our school's athletic program. If we develop these resources, we will have, first, the enthusiastic participation of every student with any degree of athletic ability and, second, but equally important, the enthusiastic support of the entire student body. With this kind of participation and support there will be no limits to our achievements; without it we will have to resign ourselves to being the doormat of the P. I. L.

Where do we go from here? The question will be answered in our attendance at next year's games and in our turnout for next year's sports. We will answer it in the way we apply ourselves at practice sessions and in the encouragement we give the members of the team. What will be your answer?

Dear Mrs Hard,
I know you have always been as sweet as you are because your cake frosting overnight
I know you were also pretty than this girl
I have really enjoyed
Spanish this year
Love,
Pat Case

Dear Mrs. Ward.
It has been a great honor for me to be included in your Spanish class this year. You've been a big help to me in getting back into the old groove. There was quite a while to be out of school and then return. I think it would have been impossible for me to stay in school if it wasn't for your constant help.
I am very grateful to you and hope I may have the pleasure of attending Spanish class next year also.
